She told Entertainment Tonight that her new book - This Book Is Not For Girls - is "100 percent a paean to all things cerulean." But Griffin insisted she is not afraid to take aim at Donald Trump and his wife - who has been criticised for her choice of an all-blue ensemble on recent occasions. Kathy said: "I'm not afraid of Melania Trump, I'm afraid of my husband. I've been afraid of him since the day I met him." Kathy is also hoping 0cc13bf012

T v 0.8.1 T. I Nix Ntb 901 Firmware up to date . How to download .Q: Rails 3.1 and Devise: Error while setting up reverse linkage to create new users. No user can be found. How do i fix this? We are also using CanCan. A: Devise's link_to helper method is expecting a User model, which Devise can not directly generate. The helper method tries to use the CanCan gem, but not all of the devise functionality can be accessed through that. You must create your own method. I don't use Devise, but something like this should work: Also see the Devise User Guide for more details: A: I know this post is old, but maybe someone else will benefit from my work. The problem was that I was editing the users model in the app/models folder, and when installing devise to the test environment, it's created in a different folder so it was looking for the model in a different place. Q: SSRS - How to repeat rows I have this simple SSRS. It's about hobbies... I have no problem to create a section for hobbies with 3 fields in every row: hobby_id, hobby_name and hobby_description Now I want to have this many fields to be repeted in every row, for 10 hobbies. Is there a way to make this done in SSRS? A: There are two approaches to achieve this (which both are quite similar in SSRS): 1) If you don't have a lot of hobbies, you could simply use a matrix for each hobby. 2) If you want to have more than 10 hobbies, you can create a dataset which stores this data and reference it in a matrix.
